

COVID-19 XM SOLUTIONS FOR HIGHER EDUCATION

Keep your remote students and faculty engaged and empowered

Use these free online resources to help your your educational institution navigate these uncertain times and prepare for a shift to remote learning programs.

THE PROBLEM

With the COVID-19 outbreak, educational institutions are facing the difficult challenge of keeping students and faculty safe, while also ensuring that students continue to learn.

As many institutions roll out remote learning models, it's critical to understand if students and faculty are prepared to learn and work remotely, stay in tune with their feelings as new programs are rolled out, and discover where you can improve to ensure learning success.

THE SOLUTIONS

The Higher Education: Remote Learning and Remote Educator Pulses allow you to:

- + Determine how prepared faculty and students are to participate in remote learning
- + Identify blockers to remote learning and key areas of investment needed
- + Keep an on-going pulse and act in real time to keep students learning and faculty training
