

JUNE
2022

Happy LGBTQ+ Pride Month! The Experience Management movement is about understanding and catering to the needs of human beings. As a community, we should support the rights of everyone to be their true selves and embrace the wonderful individualism that makes each person a unique and valuable contributor to society.

One of the ways to better understand the thoughts and feelings of individuals is to listen to what they're saying. I was recently on my first multi-city speaking tour in over two years and heard from many companies that are using the Qualtrics XM Discover platform in their contact centers to extract insights from every conversation. It's really transformational. You can read about it in the lead article in this month's journal.

MEMBER SPOTLIGHT

Julie Parker

Senior Voice of the Customer Program Manager // AppFolio

Julie recently worked with the services and products team to create a new process for turning insights into action using a framework called "ACT SMART." Thanks to this new process, she is now better able to link customer feedback directly to specific actions the business is taking.

Virtual Meetup: Innovative Listening Practices in XM feat. Gina Hancher [Session 1]

In order for organizations to continuously learn and improve the experiences they deliver, they must listen to their stakeholders. Identifying innovative ways to listen to customers and employees can uncover new needs or trends, help prioritize initiatives, and provide deeper context on issues and how to best respond to them. Join Gina Hancher, Director of Customer Success at Gigamon, and James Scutt, XM Catalyst, for an interactive discussion on innovative listening practices in XM.

Tune in on Wednesday, June 22nd at 7:00 PM ET / 09:00 AM AEST.
